

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

Torrey's 'The Foot-Path Way.'¹ — Mr. Torrey's writings always have a charm in their happily worded sentences that never dull the delicate edge of his humor, and that bring us the fragrance of the northern woods without loss of any of its freshness, but each time he gathers together a new volume we realize more and more the weightier reasons for his preëminence in the group of writers with whom one naturally associates him. He is not merely a philosopher and a sayer of happy things. He observes nature keenly as well as sympathetically, and with a spirit of scientific caution that stamps his work with a value which the writings of many a more prominent ornithologist will never possess.

About two thirds of the chapters in the present collection are devoted to birds, and in them he tells much that is interesting besides some facts of real importance—as for instance the record of the Pine Grosbeak as a summer bird on Mt. Lafayette, New Hampshire. Two chapters are given to his experience of the breeding habits of Trochilus colubris; there is another upon 'Robin Roosts'; and such titles as 'June in Franconia,' 'The Passing of the Birds,' 'A Great Blue Heron,' and 'December Out-of-doors,' give a fair idea of the other ornithological contents of the volume. Most of the chapters have already appeared in the pages of the 'Atlantic Monthly,' but their reappearance in the present form deserves a cordial welcome. — C. F. B.

Ornithological Report of the Canadian Institute.²—This publication is a record of the members' observations reported at the meetings from April 15, 1890, to June 9, 1891. It contains among other things a detailed report, of fourteen pages, from a number of observers, on the occurrence of the Evening Grosbeak in Ontario during the winter of 1889-90, and an annotated list, by W. L. Kells, of nearly a hundred and fifty species occurring at Listowel, Ontario. In addition to these there are a multitude of brief notes, some of the highest interest, others less important, relating many of them to habits, but the majority to dates of migration, etc., of various species, rare and common. With hardly an exception the localities referred to are all within the Province of Ontario. It is impossible here to quote any, even the most interesting, of the records, in spite of the importance of many of them, especially of such as bear upon the faunal peculiarities of the region.

The number of persons who have contributed to the report is large, and their work seems, on the whole, to show unusual accuracy as well as

¹ The Foot-Path Way | by | Bradford Torrey | [five lines=quotation] | [vignette] | Boston and New York | Houghton, Mifflin and Company | The Riverside Press, Cambridge | 1892 — 16^s, pp. [iv,] 245.

² Proceedings | of the | Ornithological Sub-section | of the Biological Section of the | Canadian Institute | for | 1890-91 | edited by the editing committee. | (Extracted from the Proceedings of the Canadian Institute by permission | of the Council.) | — | Price - - 25 cents. | — | Toronto : | The Copp, Clark Company, Limited, | 9 Front Street West. | — | Published Nov. 1892. — Proc. Canad. Inst., Vol. III, pp. 27-89.